ALEXA N. RITCHIE

Education

Alexa is admitted to practice law in the state of Washington. She studied piano performance at the University of Puget Sound, and earned her Bachelor of Arts degree in Social Welfare from the University of Washington. She completed her legal education through the Washington State Bar Association Law Clerk Program.

Practice Emphasis

Alexa has worked with clients in Guardianship matters since 2012, and in Estate Planning, Probate, and Trust Administration since 2014. Prior to her admission to the bar, Alexa worked as a Guardian ad Litem on both the Title 11 and Title 26 registries in Clark County. She has an employment background in non-profit disaster relief organizations and medical social work. Alexa is approachable, compassionate, and responsive to her client's needs. She is knowledgeable, resourceful, and is passionate about connecting with her clients in a meaningful way to provide counsel for the important decisions they are facing.

Professional & Community Activities

Alexa is a member of the Washington State Bar Association, Clark County Bar Association, Estate Planning Council of Southwest Washington, and Washington Women Lawyers. She serves as a board member on the WSBA Law Clerk Board, and volunteers with the Clark County Volunteer Lawyers Program.

Alexa is a trained classical pianist and enjoys music, good food, coffee, travel, books and textile arts. She lives in rural Clark County with her family and two golden-doodles.
